PROVOST'S LECTURE FEATURING IBRAM X. KENDI - NATIONAL BOOK AWARD WINNER, HISTORIAN AND LEADING ANTIRACIST VOICE IN AMERICA

Wed, October 20, 2019
7:00PM-9:00PM PST

Description

Presented in partnership with the OSU Foundation, the Provost's Lecture Series brings renowned speakers to the OSU community to engage in thought-provoking discussions on topics of global significance.

Join us on April 14, 2021 at 5:00 p.m. for a conversation with Ibram X. Kendi, today's leading antiracist voice in America, historian, National Book Award Winner (2019), Guggenheim Fellow, three-time NY Times best selling author and journalist. Kendi is the Andrew W. Mellon Professor in the Humanities at Boston University, and the founding director of the BU Center for Antiracist Research. He is a contributing writer at "The Atlantic" and a CBS News correspondent. Kendi is the 2020-2021 Frances B. Cashin Fellow at the Radcliffe Institute for Advanced Study at Harvard University.

He is the author of many books including "Stamped from the Beginning: The Definitive History of Racist Ideas in America," which won the National Book Award for Nonfiction, and three #1 New York Times bestsellers, "How to Be an Antiracist;" "Stamped: Racism, Antiracism, and You," co-authored with Jason Reynolds; and "Antiracist Baby," illustrated by Ashley Lukashevsky. His latest book, "Be Antiracist: A Journal for Awareness, Reflection, and Action," was released in October.

"In my years as dean, we've seen a fair number of changes not in our basic goals but in new developments in veterinary medicine and the services we provide," Tornquist says. "For example, in our new building expansion we're gaining a linear accelerator, which will allow us to provide radiation oncology for cancer patients. Ten years ago, we wouldn't have anticipated that we'd be an oncology center."

The connection to human health is especially important to the anonymous donor. "Initially my commitment to the Carlson College of Veterinary Medicine was related to advancing the health of companion animals and to educating future generations of veterinarians," the donor says.
